What are Professionals across Sustainability, Tourism, and the Built Environment, Saying about the TLC Harmony's Sustainability Approach?

Jennifer Jordan-Saifi,

Household of The Prince of Wales & The Duchess of Cornwall, Clarence House, London

"Thank you so much for sharing these inspiring documents".

"HRH is very eager to explore..... meaningful collaboration"

Patty Clement

Sustainable Markets Chief Operating Officer

"The work you have done to incorporate the Harmony principles is incredible".

Taleb Rifai,

Former Secretary General UNWTO

Sustainability is such an important outcome of Covid, I am, therefore, ready to support TLC Harmony, as they strive to support a sustainability position of tourism development in leaping forward to protect our environment, our societies and our economies and thus sustaining life on earth.

Dr. Abdulla Mausoom,
Minister of Tourism, Maldives

Maldives' economic dependence on tourism makes it absolutely essential we continue to focus on sustainable tourism development, whilst we embark on nationwide tourism expansion initiatives and celebration of our tourism industry's Golden Jubilee in 2022. We endorse the TLCs sustainable tourism initiative to Reset Tourism Sustainably”.

Professor David A Kirby, Holder of The Queen's Award for Enterprise Promotion
(Professor of Entrepreneurship University of Surrey/ UWTSD)
(Tourism and Academia)

“Apart from being an enthusiastic and energetic advocate of wellness tourism Nicki, the founder TLC Wellness Tourism, is a passionate pioneer of the Prince of Wales' Harmony approach to sustainability. Together with her partner, Leo Downer, she has produced the world's first Harmony Kite Mark for Wellness Tourism - the Harmony Golden Ratio. Through it she is aiming to help tourism businesses embrace sustainability and minimise their impact on the environment, something long overdue. And for which she and Leo are to be commended.”

Harry Murray MBE, Chairman Lucknam Park Hotel & Spa & President HOSPA,
The Hospitality Professionals Association

“The UK Hospitality Industry must act responsibly and do everything possible to support Government achieve its sustainability targets, I am looking forward to supporting TLC's commitment to global hospitality and tourism sustainability at their RESET Tourism event”.

Professor Nick Campion,
Harmony Institute University of Wales Trinity Saint David

“Absolutely amazing.”

Robert Ryan, Director, Ryan Resources Ltd
(Sustainability in Infrastructure)

“Looking at something through a Harmony lens immediately opens the door to improved performance and greater Harmony. Taking waste management as an example in a resort setting enables guests to understand the effect of consumption, its value, costs and local opportunities including local leadership and education - such as food waste composting use on the resort estate. Other opportunities would likely be directed to reducing pollution such as specific collection and management of plastics. Looking at management systems and working towards positive outcomes locally has a wider and longer-lived effect at the resort and in guests and employee thinking leading to greater customer engagement and community leadership”.

(client examples: Defra, GRG, Western BioEnergy, EcoPowerSoft, Earthworm Capital, Eunomia (LB Camden and Surrey CC), CPL and Nippon)

A Page. Sika Technical Management (Construction)

“As a materials expert for over 30 years specialising in admixture building the tallest and longest and airport developments in the world, I applaud the work of TLC and the aspirations for the Golden Ratio to protect people and our planet. Green technology in concrete recipes is continually being upgraded and refined so we in the construction and development phase can align to a world imperative. “

(client examples: Crossrail Farringdon; Severn Power Station, Gwent; Túnel Emisor Oriente, Mexico; Hydro SA, Zug, Switzerland)

Jean-Paul Cassia, +Cassia (Architecture and the Built Environment)

“As the paradigm shift in sustainability permeates across all industries, creating real estate that supports and enhances the search for more responsible ways of existing is a story onto itself. In the ripples of the ongoing pandemic, building stories in our daily lives will now increasingly include the pursuit of a certain harmony that is a good for people, planet, and prosperity. Harmony builds sustainable stories. “

(Client examples: Sun Group; HH Sheikh Hamdan Bin Zayed Al Nahyan; Al Arabiya)

“We are delighted that the Harmony Institute is supporting Go Gloucestershire and the Visit Gloucestershire Partnership’. Tourism is vital to the Gloucestershire local economy; we want to maintain our wonderful offering here in the Cotswolds and surrounding areas. We involve all our partners in the sustainability programmes our organisation has in development, it has never been a more important time for us to unite, collaborate and share best practice.”

WORLD TOURISM ASSOCIATION
FOR CULTURE & HERITAGE

Chris Flynn, President and CEO, World Tourism
Association for Culture and Heritage

“Research indicates traveller motivations and intentions continue to change with an increased focus and desire for more authentic, immersive and aspirational experiences post Covid19. Cultural Heritage Tourism (CHT) is emerging as a critical element of these findings, therefore now is the time put in place responsible and sustainable plans that seek to protect and preserve what makes a destination unique.

We look forward to discussing and exploring the changing dynamics of the CHT sector and much more during the TLC – Reset Tourism event.”

HOTELS & RESORTS

Paul Hawco, Corporate Director of Wellness, Dusit International

At Dusit, we are committed to making sustainability a part of everything we do.

We engage our staff, partners, and guests on our journey with a positive impact towards a greener planet and a more sustainable future.

Within our commitment to environmental, economic, and social sustainability, we have a 360-degree approach across our entire operations, with a focus on our guest's wellness journey, a journey which inspires our guests to create intentional habits and rituals that can pave the way for sustained wellbeing. As people increasingly filter their travel experiences through a holistic wellness lens, guests, organizers, and participants will become more and more interested in destinations that have a holistic wellness approach and that are environmental conscious and proactive.

"We see an amazing opportunity for Thailand to reset as a wellness destination, serving as a catalyst to build renewed interest and trust which can kickstart tourism in general."

Steph , Upgrade Publishing, Eco-Hotel Investment Summit Jan 2021, Wellness and Sustainability Panel

“Thank you, guys, - you were awesome and Nikki - you kicked butt and I got messages saying how much people enjoyed your panel”
